Dear Parent/Carer,

As we approach the mid-term break this week is children's mental health week. Mental health is always important but never more so than now. There is lots of information available on the website to support children and families including top tips, wellbeing activities and much more.

<https://www.childrensmentalhealthweek.org.uk/>

If you need further support please get in touch and we will do everything we can to support you and your child.

I also wanted to take this opportunity to say thank you. Lock down is hard, juggling school work, your own work and trying to negotiate a teenager out of bed or off a play station is never easy! You are doing a great job and this week in light of the focus on mental health if the battle to complete school work is too much then take time out and do something different and come back to it later!!

We are planning for next year and information on the course choice process for pupils in S2-S5 will be shared with you directly after the February holiday. We have created a Course Choice 2021-2022 page on the homepage of our website, this page will be populated over the coming weeks and should make it much easier for you to locate important information.

We are expecting an announcement on Tuesday from the First Minister as the government review the current lockdown arrangements. We will be in touch with any updates after the announcement.

On-line learning activities will stop on Friday 5th February and will resume on Tuesday the 16th. Have a lovely break and make the most of the break from screen time.

Best wishes

L Black
