Dear Parent/Carer

Staffing Update

I am pleased to report that school will be operating as normal next week with no further requirement for remote learning at this stage. Staff absence is now at a more manageable level and we are now able to cover all classes.

I cannot thank you enough for your support this week with home learning, this has been the most challenging time with regard to staff absence throughout the pandemic.

Remembering Mr Dr Wilson

It's hard to believe that Saturday marks one full year since Mr Dr Wilson passed away.

Last year we chose to grow sunflowers to remember him. The sunflower brought to mind many of his amazing personal attributes. We would like to remember him in a similar way this year.

From today, paper sunflowers will begin to appear around the science department and the rest of the school. These have been made by pupils and are a visual reminder of the positive influence Phil had throughout the school.

Phil's parents made a donation to the school and we have purchased a friendship bench in Phil's memory which will be placed outside the school under the cherry blossom trees, Phil used to stand at his classroom window looking out across the plateau at the view and we couldn't think of anywhere better to put it.

Have a lovely weekend and enjoy the much-needed sunshine!

Best wishes

L Black
